Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

The elderly farm couple sat in their rocking chairs in front of the fireplace one wintry night in Iowa. "The years are passing us by, Sarah," said the old man.

"Yes," she agreed.

"We're getting older," he said, "and pretty soon one of us will be left."

"That's right," she said, "and when that happens, I'm moving to California."

Looking through the Ben Franklin building yesterday and it is taking shape rapidly. Leon Cahey is the contractor.

"People who look to governments for 'security' and administrations which glibly promise it, are seeking to humanize the living by the sweat of his brow, and where he wants in spite of all human devices to render it otherwise. Nowhere in her system does nature offer security to anyone or anything. Her way is the law of change and fulfillment—but never the unalterable, the fixed or the guaranteed." —Daily Colonist, Victoria, B. C.

"The United States is going to fall and Negroes will see to it that it does. I only hope that I live to see the day." Stokely Carmichael at the Communist Revolutionary Planning Conference which was held in Cuba.

Profit has almost become a dirty word in some quarters, as though it were sinful to make a profit. Of course in a free enterprise system as we have here in America, profit is what makes the wheels go round.

If a business does not make a profit, it stagnates.

Here are a few comments on profit which we lifted from a little magazine. We don't even know the name of it, but anyway we did not hot write these lines.

We all benefit from profits. Employees benefit because of the direct influence of profits on jobs. Employees benefit from profits because without profits a company cannot long exist and without a company the jobs it offers will no longer exist. On the other hand, a profitable company is able to grow and thus to create new and better jobs.

Shareholders benefit from profits because profits are the source from which a company can pay the owners of the business for investing their savings in the tools of production without which it cannot exist.

Consumers benefit from profits because profits stimulate the progress that improves our standard of living. We all share the advantages that come from new and improved products, or new ways to make and sell products more competitively. Profits are an important source of funds for the new facilities, plants, tools and research facilities that move both the company and the economy forward.

Government benefits from profits because government services, buildings and payrolls are, in substantial part, paid for by the revenue that comes from taxes on the profits of companies and the income of individuals employed by them. Lower business profits result in lower tax revenues for local, state and federal government.

OEO Grant Made To Upward Bound

Senator John S. Cooper has notified the Ledger and Times that the Office of Economic Opportunity has approved a grant of $116,477 for the Upward Bound program at Murray State University. The grant will serve 135 students at the university.

Frank Rickman Is Fulfilling A Prediction

Frank Rickman

When he graduated from Murray High School, Frank D. Rickman was voted "most likely to succeed." At 26 years of age, he seems to be well on his way to fulfilling that prediction.

Now a senior at the University of Louisville Medical School, Rickman has found time to lead his classmates in student government, while keeping a full tuition scholarship by ranking in the upper third of his class academically. He is president of the Medical School Student Council.

Since his graduation from high school, Rickman has worked his way through college and medical school. He received a B.A. degree from Murray State University in 1964. While there, he was active in the Student Organization and a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

He received his degree with distinction, and was named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." The latter is an annual national publication listing outstanding college students.

Now a member of Phi Chi Medical Fraternity, Rickman has worked at the Norton Memorial Infirmary in the externship program while at U. of L.

Rickman was an outstanding student at Murray High. He was a member of the National Honor Society, and the student council, and was president of the Hi-Y club and Co-Captain of the Football team.

On graduation, the future internist will serve his internship and three to four years residency at the University of Alabama Medical Center in Birmingham. He hopes to practice and possibly teach medicine part-time somewhere in the South or Western United States.

Rickman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Rickman, 1002 Walnut Street, Murray.

Civitan Pancake Dav Is Observed

Members of the Murray Civitan Club, their wives, and other volunteers are busy today serving pancakes at two restaurants, Maple Leaf and Rudy's, for the club's annual Pancake Day.

Special place mats with the Civitan Creed printed on it, along with the projects the club supports and the list of contributors were at each place. Yellow "Aunt Jemima's Pancake Jamboree" napkins were also at each place.

The aim of the club is "a better Murray through our many civic projects," as printed on the place mats.

The club will be serving at each of the two restaurants until eight o'clock tonight.

Gary Wilkinson Is Serving With 198th Infantry Brigade

Private First Class Gary Wilkinson is now serving with the 198th Infantry Brigade near Hill 54 in Vietnam, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Wilkinson of Murray Route Six.

The Calloway County soldier has been guarding bridges and the base near An Ton before returning to the fighting in the field.

Wilkinson volunteered for the U. S. Army on August 14 of last year. He took his basic training and advanced infantry training at Fort Polk, La., before spending a leave with his parents here.

On January 5 he left for the port of embarkation at Fort Lewis, Washington, and left by jet from there on February 6. He arrived at Chu Lai, Vietnam the next day before stopping in Alaska, thirty miles from Tokyo, Japan.

Wilkinson is a graduate of Calloway County High School and was employed by Russell Bogard before volunteering for the Armed Services.

His address is as follows: Pfc. Gary Wilkinson US 53909667 Co. B, First Bn. 46th Inf. 198th Lt. Inf. Bde. APO San Francisco, California 96219

Mrs. Jimmy Herndon Is Injured Friday In Accident Here

Mrs. Jimmy D. (Marilyn) Herndon of Murray Route One was yesterday by Dr. Conrad H. Jones at the Houston-McCraw Clinic on Olive Street, according to the report filed by Patrolman Dale Spahn of the Murray Police Department.

Patrolman Spahn said Mrs. Herndon was a passenger in the 1967 Chevrolet two door hardtop driven by her husband, Jimmy D. Herndon. Herndon car hit the brake and his car hit the Herndon car causing damage to the rear bumper. No damage was reported to the Sandusky car.

This makes the 45th report of a traffic accident during the month of March in the city of Murray filed by the Murray Police officers. No fatalities have been reported.

Five Cited For Reckless Driving

Er, Fellows, The Ball, Keep Your Eye On The Ball

MIAMI (UPI) — There's an iron-clad rule in tennis that you're supposed to keep your eye on the ball. One boy did, and wound up in a shower room full of squealing nude girls.

L. Ennis Dukes, principal of L. Ennis Junior High School, explained how it happened Friday.

Seems the boy, who will remain nameless because "he'll take enough kidding as it is," was taking tennis lessons and knocked the ball onto the roof of the school.

He went up to get it, keeping his eye on the ball. "He did not notice where he was walking" and he fell feet-first through a plastic skylight into the shower room," Dukes said.

The girls squealed and scrambled. The boy was unhurt, but embarrassed.

Physical education instructor Delores Kirkfield came to the rescue. She draped a large towel over the boy's head and led him by the hand away from the scene of his mortification.

Stanley Young Is Wounded In Action Again

A Calloway County man has been wounded for the second time in Viet Nam. It was reported today, Captain Stanley Young, was wounded when a bullet came through the bottom of his helicopter.

He was struck in the leg and broke into several pieces, with one of them striking his left arm.

He was piloting the helicopter at the time, trying to help a friendly ground unit regroup after they had been struck hard.

He turned the aircraft over to his Executive Officer, and he was flown to a hospital at Pleiku. He will be there for several days.

Pieces of the bullet fragment were removed from his arm and apparently no permanent damage resulted from the incident. The fragment struck between the elbow and the wrist of the left arm.

Captain Young was wounded on his last tour of duty in Viet Nam when his aircraft was shot down.

He recovered from this incident after serving his time in Viet Nam returned to the United States. He served as a helicopter instructor for some months before being tagged for a return trip.

He will receive his second Purple Heart.

His wife the former Lou King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce King of Murray Route Five will join her husband two weeks from today in Honolulu, Hawaii when Captain Young receives his R & R leave.

The young couple have three children, Diana, age 10, Debbie, age 5 and Donna, age 3.

Captain Young is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Young.

Anti-Communist Revolts Are Reported In Cong Controlled Provinces

Captain Stanley Young

SAIGON (UPI) — Anti-Communist rebellions have broken out in guerrilla-controlled sections of South Vietnam's northern provinces.

At Da Nang, largest American base in the area, the intelligence officers said revolts against Communist authority have been reported in at least three villages.

Few details of the reported revolt were available as yet. But the intelligence officers said the rebellions showed signs of a "groundswell" among Vietnamese civilians against the Viet Cong.

In other war developments, U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses three times today bombed the North Vietnamese troops surrounding the marine fort of Khe Sanh on South Vietnam's northern frontier — just above the embattled area where the rebellions were reported.

In North Vietnam, American jet pilots Friday flew 106 bombing missions and — for the first time in six weeks — battled Russian-built MIG fighters. An Air Force F4C Phantom piloted by Col. Wesley D. Kimball, 41, of Canton, Okla., was credited with "probably" shooting down a MIG21.

Kimball and his fellow crewman sent a missile slamming into the delatwinged MIG, fastest used by the Communists in Vietnam. Pilots watched the Communist aircraft spin down out of sight, streaming smoke. The MIG disappeared in the clouds lying over the dogfight area northeast of Hanoi. It was presumed shot down.

None of the other MIGs that fitted near the American raiders chose to give battle. No American planes were touched, U.S. spokesmen said.

Among the U.S. strike planes Friday were five F111A swing-jet fighters. They hit Communist military targets near the Mu Gia pass, gateway to the guerrilla's Ho Chi Minh supply trail south. The sixth of the new superjets that joined the Air Force combat strikes Monday was lost Thursday.

U.S. planes were hunting for the plane or its wreckage and its two crewmen. American officials here and in Washington said possession of even the wreckage could give the Communists their first look at the superjet gear installed in the F111A, America's newest warplane.

Other Actions — U.S. Army Special Forces and government troops, according to a delayed military report, Wednesday tracked down a Communist battalion between Saigon and the Cambodian border. Two days' fighting ensued. The allies killed 121 Communists. Allied losses were 15 South Vietnamese killed and 54 men wounded including five American Green Berets.

Government militia killed 19 guerrillas near the Central Highlands town of Ban Me Thuot. One South Vietnamese was killed.

Today, the third day in a row, government troops sweeping Viet Cong stronghold swamp jungles in the Mekong Delta below Saigon uncovered huge stores of Communist arms. Captured were 250 antitank weapons, thousands of rocket and mortar rounds and haystack-high piles of bullets, machineguns and small arms.

Funeral Incomplete For Mrs. Frisby

Dr. Max Carman's Brother Dies Near Demorest, Ga.

Word has been received of the death of Gage G. Carman, brother of Dr. Max G. Carman of Murray, who died suddenly of a heart attack on Friday evening.

Reports are that Mr. Carman and his wife were enroute from Orlando, Fla., where they had spent the past several months to their home in Grinnell, Iowa. Mr. Carman suffered the heart attack while driving his car near Demorest, Ga., and his wife sustained a broken arm in the accident following his sudden attack.

Mrs. Carman is hospitalized in Demorest. Survivors are his wife, the former Lucile Dryden, his sister, Miss Ruth Carman of Charleston, Ill., and his brother, Dr. Max G. Carman of Murray.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Hope For "Ground Swell" Of Rebellion In South Vietnam

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI) — Anti-Communist rebellions have broken out in guerrilla-controlled sections of South Vietnam's northern provinces.

Auto Inspection Will Be Eased To Some Extent

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Robert Shirley announced Friday that 7 of the 21 points on the compulsory annual inspection checklist will be eased or eliminated.

Shirley also confirmed that the inspection fee of $2.50 was being reduced to $2.

His action came on the heels of Gov. Louie B. Nunn's veto late Wednesday night of a bill which would have eliminated compulsory annual inspections by repealing the 1966 auto inspection law, which took effect last January.

Owners of vehicles with license plates ending in the numeral 3 or 4 have until April 30 to get their vehicles inspected.

The major change among those announced Friday was a concession to farm and coal mining interests, both powers in Kentucky politics.

Shirley said his division was relaxing requirements for special class vehicles used in daylight operations only. These vehicles will be excused from requirements for marker lights, cab lights and other special lighting equipment.

Included in this category are farm trucks, coal trucks, well drilling machines, gravel trucks and similar vehicles.

Shirley said a distinctive sticker will be issued for the daylight category vehicles.

The other six changes, those affecting the typical motorist's vehicle, are:

—Windshields must be replaced only if there are obstructions to vision.

—Inspectors will check headlight aim, but changes in aim will be on a voluntary basis.

—The brake test will not require removal of a wheel, but will be done by a pedal test and visual inspection.

—The parking brake test is eliminated, as well as the ball joint and toe in, toe-out test.

—Tires will be approved if there remains 232nd inch of tread.

—Turn signals will not be required. But if the vehicle is so equipped, they must be operable.

The relaxations to criteria in the original 1966 law were first announced last month, when the 1968 General Assembly was in the process of watering down the original law.

"We will not let violence take over this country."

MAGNOLIA, Ark. — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., saying what he might do if President Johnson and Richard Nixon were the presidential nominees this fall:

"Aw dear, I think I would have to go fishing."

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman, rebuking hecklers who prevented him from finishing a speech last week at the University of Wisconsin:

"I have come back to Wisconsin to finish what storm-trooper tactics denied me the right to say last week."

CHICAGO — Susan Feldman, one of the persons trapped for a while in a smoky fire which severely damaged the 12-story Carson, Pirie, Scott and Co. department store:

"All I could think was 'God, don't let it be painful.'"

A Bible Thought for Today

For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures. — I Corinthians 15:3.

The Apostle Paul suggests that the Bible is a constant reminder of the simplicity of the Gospel.

Rico Carty Hopes To Be Back In 1969

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Rico Carty, the Atlanta outfielder stricken with tuberculosis, will miss this season but should be back in 1969, a team spokesman said today.

Don Davidson, Braves' traveling secretary, said the 27-year-old slugger from the Dominican Republic will remain at the South-east Florida Tuberculosis Hospital for "an indefinite period."

Davidson also said Carty's case was "not as serious as originally expected."

Carty hit .255 last year with 15 home runs. He reported to the Braves' spring training camp 10 pounds overweight and subsequently lost 10 more pounds. The loss of weight and sluggishness prompted the Braves to order a physical examination for the all-time outfielder. The examination and subsequent tests disclosed he had TB.

Elvin Hayes Denies Rockets Early Offer

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) — Elvin Hayes, college basketball player of the year, has denied that the San Diego Rockets had made him an offer before he closed his collegiate career at the University of Houston.

Hayes, in upstate New York for a pair of exhibition all-star games, made the denial in answer to charges made Thursday by the Houston Mavericks of the American Basketball Association.

Hayes, a two-time all-America player, signed a multi-year contract with San Diego of the rival National Basketball Association that is expected to earn him more than $100,000 annually.

The Mavericks reportedly wanted to give him a $750,000, three-year pact had he chosen the ABA. Hayes said subsequent charges appeared to be sour grapes.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Saturday, March 30, the 90th day of 1968 with 278 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.
The morning star is Venus.
The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:
In 1858, Hyman Lipman received a patent for the first pencil to be equipped with an eraser.

In 1867, Secretary of State William Seward reached an agreement with Russia for the purchase of Alaska for $7.2 million.

In 1945, Nazi troops were forced to retreat along the entire eastern front as Russian forces invaded Austria.

In 1967, 18 Wisconsin school children on a tour in Louisiana were killed when a jet liner crashed into their motel near New Orleans.

A thought for the day: William Makepeace Thackeray said, "next to the very young, I suppose the very old are the most selfish."

T.V.A. Weekly Letter

Summary of Progress on TVA Construction Projects:

1. Paradise Steam Plant, west-end Kentucky—About 500 rail-road carloads of boiler material have been received here for the 1,150,000-kilowatt third generating unit being added to this plant.

Nearly two million feet of boiler tubing is being installed for Unit 3, and installation of 23 ten-foot-diameter cyclone burners has begun. The concrete veil (shell) has been completed for the second of three 437-foot-high cooling towers. Turbogenerator erection has started. Employment on this project now totals about 2,000.

Work has begun on tower foundations for a 500,000-volt transmission line from Paradise Steam Plant to Davidson Substation near Nashville. This $3 million project is scheduled for operation in the spring of 1969.

2. Shawnee-Marshall EHV Line, western Kentucky—Right-of-way clearing will begin soon for a 27-mile transmission line to provide an additional transmission connection from Shawnee Steam Plant to the TVA system in the Kentucky Dam area. This $2½ million line will be designed for later incorporation into TVA's high-capacity 500,000-volt system.

3. Land Between the Lakes, western Kentucky—Tennessee is progressing toward the scheduled summer opening of Camp Energy, which will provide facilities for up to 400 organized campers such as Scout groups.

The former Kentucky Woodlands Refuge headquarters is being renovated to serve as a visitors' educational farm for children who have not had an opportunity to see and handle farm animals and crops. Near Hematite Dam an environmental viewing area and parking nearby is being built. The construction force totals about 70 workers.

4. Cumberland Steam Plant, Cumberland City, Tenn.—Site preparation began March 4 for this new $325 million TVA generating plant, which will be the largest coal-fired plant on the TVA power system with two 1,300,000-kilowatt generating units.

Present employment at the project is about 145. The work force is expected to build up gradually to a peak of about 2,400 workers in 1971.

5. Davidson Substation, west of Nashville—This new $8¼ million facility to feed power into the Nashville area from 500,000-volt transmission lines is scheduled for operation in about a year. Meanwhile, facilities necessary for energizing new EHV lines running through this point from west Tennessee and north Alabama are expected to go in operation next year.

6. Bear Creek Water Control System, northwest Alabama—Work has begun on the concrete lining of the 570-foot outlet tunnel for Bear Creek Dam, the first of four dams to be built in this system. Clearing continues in the reservoir area. About 70 men are at work.

7. Wilson Dam and National Fertilizer Development Center, northwest Alabama—Work continues on renovation of one generating unit at the dam, and on phosphorus furnace and nitric acid storage facilities at the Fertilizer Development Center. The combined work force is about 140.

8. Broyers Ferry Nuclear Power Plant, northwest Alabama—In the reactor building, erection of 115-foot-high derrick vessels to contain the reactors' nuclear completion in Unit 1 and under way in Unit 2. Pile driving continues in the turbogenerator area and a 45-ton gentry crane has been erected there. Excavation is under way on the adjacent lake-shore for a 9,000-cubic-yard concrete intake structure for cooling water. About 1,200 TVA and contractor's employees are at work on the project.

9. Tims Ford Dam, middle Tennessee—Installation of the large penstock which will carry water from the lake to the powerhouse is under way, and concrete is being placed for the penstock intake and the powerhouse. Work continues on highway relocation and bridge construction in the reservoir area. The total project work force is about 235.

10. Nickajack Dam, southwest Tennessee—Two generating units are in regular operation and work on the other two is nearly complete. Upstream at Hales Bar Dam, which Nickajack replaced, demolition of the spillway is nearing completion. The old dam is being removed to a depth of 34 feet below Nickajack Lake full pool level. TVA is raising U. S. Highway 41 bridge, downstream from Hales Bar, 21 feet to provide adequate navigation clearance over the new Nickajack Lake. The project work force now totals about 500.

11. Bull Run-Widows Creek EHV Line—East Tennessee's first 500,000-volt power transmission is expected to begin about May 1 over this new 113-mile line from Bull Run Steam Plant near Oak Ridge to Widows Creek Steam Plant in the northeast corner of Alabama. A river crossing for this line is being erected over Chickamauga Lake northeast of Chattanooga. Cable stringing is complete from that point northeast to Bull Run, and is in progress on the remaining portion of the line. Total cost of this line and related facilities is expected to be more than $16 million.

12. Tellico Dam, east Tennessee—The massive concrete structure which will include the dam's spillway is taking shape. About half of the 86,000 cubic yards of concrete required is expected to be in place by the end of April. Rock excavation and removal continue. The project work force totals about 250.

13. Norris Forest Nursery Center—Work began March 11 on a new $342,000 complex of forestry and fish and wildlife research facilities on U. S. 441 near Norris Dam. The laboratories will be grouped around a visitor center with exhibits illustrating TVA conservation programs.

14. Bull Run-Sullivan EHV Line, east Tennessee—Work has begun on tower foundations for a new 39-mile transmission line from John Sevier Steam Plant near Rogersville to a point north of Johnson City. This is the first step in a $23½ million project which eventually will provide a 500,000-volt line from Bull Run Steam Plant near Oak Ridge to a large new substation in southern Sullivan County, increasing power supplies to upper east Tennessee.

Miller Rites Held Today At Chapel

Final rites for William Jasper (Uncle Billy) Miller, age 83, are being held today at the chapel of the Max H. Churchill Funeral Home with Rev. John W. DeWaters officiating. Burial will be in the Martins Chapel Cemetery.

Miller died Thursday at the Burnley Nursing Home in Paducah. He was a resident of Murray for over 40 years.

The Max H. Churchill Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.

Col. Booth has urged students to look up all valuables and report thefts immediately to their dormitory counselor and a security officer.

Furthermore, he has suggested that students secure a footlocker and padlock for storing valuables. He has also cautioned them against leaving valuables in the gymnasium.

"The only way to catch a sneak thief is to deny him the opportunity," Col. Booth said.

Since January 1 several new patrolmen have been employed to make possible an improved 24-hour security watch of the campus.

Others will be added as needed to meet the demands of growth, Col. Booth said. At present, however, he believes the campus police are prepared to handle most any situation that might arise within the university community.

NOW YOU KNOW

The famous crack in the Liberty Bell occurred in July 1835 while tolling for the funeral of John Marshall, Chief Justice of the United States. At the time the bell was hanging in the brick tower section of the State House rather than the wooden steeple which had become insecure.

Jim Palmer Of Baltimore Orioles Is Unhappy On Being Sent To Training With His Injury

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Name the pitcher who beat Sandy Koufax in the last game Koufax ever pitched.

For those of you who've already forgotten, the answer is Jim Palmer. The young Baltimore Orioles' righthander bested Koufax in the second game of the 1966 World Series—the last time Koufax ever worked on the mound.

But now Palmer, still only 22, is starting to worry that he'll never have the chance to be doing anything else of note in baseball.

Palmer, plagued with arm trouble most of last season and this spring, was shipped back to the minor leagues Friday by the Orioles. He's unable to pitch because of a sore shoulder and has worked only eight innings this spring.

"What's the sense of my going anywhere," he said, "if I can't throw? If they wanted to put me on the disabled list—and then send me out when I'm ready to pitch—okay. But this doesn't make any sense."

Orioles Lose

After sending Palmer out, the Orioles suffered a 5-3 loss to the Boston Red Sox Friday night. Jose Santiago became the first Red Sox pitcher to go nine innings in the game and slammed a homer—just like he did in the first game of last year's World Series—to pace the victory. This homer was a three-run blow.

Roy White and Joe Pepitone each singled home a run in the 10th inning as the New York Yankees edged the Chicago White Sox 3-1. The White Sox were shutout until there were two out in the ninth inning and Steve Hamilton hit Tommy McCraw with the bases-loaded to force in the tying run.

Frank Coggins hit a three-run homer in the fifth inning to pace the Washington Senators to a 5-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The victory gave Washington a 9-0 record against National League opposition this spring.

Tigers Clobbered

The New York Mets, who'd hit just two homers all spring, collected two off Earl Wilson in the fifth inning to highlight a six-run rally and clobber the Detroit Tigers 9-1. Jerry Buchek and Ron Sobush collected the homers to pace the rally. Rockies Les Roh and Jerry Kosman combined to stop the Tigers.

Ramon Webster hit a pair of homers and Tony Larussa added a solo homer as the Oakland Athletics blanked the Minnesota Twins 7-0. Webster's first homer was a three-run blast in the third inning and the second was a two-run homer in the sixth.

Ed Spiezio's two-run homer in the ninth inning propelled the world champion St. Louis Cardinals to a 109 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Dropped Fly

Willie McCovey hit a three-run homer in the first inning but it took an error by catcher Cesar Gutierrez to give the San Francisco Giants a 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians. Gutierrez dropped a perfect relay from the outfield in the eighth inning to permit the winning run to score.

The Philadelphia Phillies battered Milt Pappas for 11 hits in seven innings and clobbered the Cincinnati Reds 9-4. John Cullison snapped a 4-4 tie in the fifth inning with his third homer of the spring.

An investment in Your Future ...ATTEND CHURCH

Our fears seem as big and as terrible as this alligator sometimes, don't they? Fear about this thing and that can paralyze us and prevent us from doing our daily work.

Many of our fears are real. A great many of our fears, however, are unfounded — a result of thinking and worrying about ourselves. Sir John Denham phrased it this way:

"My fears are causeless and ungrounded, Fantastic dreams and melancholy fumes."

There is only one thing that will dispel fear of this type. We must do something to get out of ourselves. That means loving and helping others.

The Bible puts it so well in I John 4:18. "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear; because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love."

The Church is God's Agency designed to help you. We invite you to attend this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Life minutes and roll call were by Lisa Smith. The club chose as a project to collect items for the V. A. Hospital at Fort Campbell. Members present were David Smith, Lisa Smith, Paula Elkins, Janet Newberry, Rita Lucks, Robert Breisford, James Jarrett, and Jimmy Jarrett. Three leaders were present.

Refreshments were served, and James Jarrett reported.

Brandon-Palmer Vows To Be Read

MISS PAULA SUE BRANDON

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brandon, 323 South Eleventh Street, Murray, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Paula Sue, to David Linn Palmer, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Baron Palmer, Almo Route One, Penny Road.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brandon of Murray Route Six and of Mrs. Pearl Gossett of Murray and the late W. A. Gossett of Paris, Tenn.

Mr. Palmer is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Palmer and of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Culver, all of Calloway County.

Miss Brandon is a senior at Murray High School. Mr. Palmer is a graduate of Calloway County High School and is now a freshman at Murray State University.

The wedding will be an event of Saturday, June 22, at two o'clock in the afternoon at the Memorial Baptist Church. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Art Show Judges At Paducah To Be From Murray University

The Paducah Women's Club Annual Art Show will open to the public April 10 at the Paducah City Hall.

The show has increased in size each year and all area artists are invited to enter. Entries will be accepted at the City Hall April 8. There is no entry fee and artists may enter up to three paintings in any media including sculpture and should be work done within the last two years. They must be framed or stiffly matted.

Judging will be done on April 9, by members of the Murray State University Art Department to be appointed by Miss Clara Eagle, head of the Art Department. Prizes will be given for each media in both amateur and advanced classes. Among the many fine awards is a $100 Purchase Award by Mr. Joe T. Kelley.

A special exhibit will be on view showing the work of a local artist, Mrs. Helen Attebury and her young daughter Kim. In conjunction with the Art Show, a Children's Art Bazaar is being held April 5-9 at the Central School, 8th and Tennessee Streets, with city, county, and parochial schools participating. First grade through high school will exhibit their art work and ribbons will be awarded for outstanding and promising work.

The public is invited to see both shows, and pretty costumes and hostesses and soft organ music will provide a pleasurable background for their viewing.

Anyone desiring further information may contact Miss Elizabeth Baughman, Chairman, 104 S. 21st Street, Paducah, Ky. The exhibit will remain open through April 12.

Annual Breakfast Held Thursday By Zeta Department

The Zeta Department of the Murray Woman's Club held its 22nd annual breakfast at the Holiday Inn on Thursday, March 29, at seven o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Jack Bailey, Zeta chairman, presided at the meeting. She appointed a nominating committee composed of Mrs. Bui Scott, chairman, Mrs. Betty Hahn, and Miss Louise Lamb. The chairman also appointed a committee to investigate what the Zetas would do for mental health. They are Mrs. John Irvin, Mrs. Cecil Farris, and Miss Madelyn Lamb.

Mrs. David Gowans, president of the Murray Woman's Club, was a guest of Mrs. Purdon Outland and gave the invocation.

The tables were decorated with lovely arrangements of spring flowers.

Hostesses for the morning meeting were Mesdames W. C. Elkins, A. D. Wallace, Morris Lamb, Purdon Outland, Tom Rowlett, and Miss Vivian Hale.

Mrs. Max Workman Honored At Stork Shower On Monday

Mrs. Max Workman was the honoree at a delightfully planned stork shower held at the home of Mrs. Eddie Workman on Monday, March 25, at seven o'clock in the evening.

The gracious hostesses for the baby occasion were Mrs. Lloyd Carter, Mrs. H. S. Rogers, and Mrs. Eddie Workman. For the special event the honoree chose to wear a navy dress with white trim on the neck and the long sleeves. She was presented a novelty garage fashioned of a pacifier, rattle, and a baby doll.

Mrs. Workman opened her many gifts which had been placed on a table with a bunny hanging on the wall above the gift table.

Games were played with the recipients of the prizes being Mrs. Sina Harrison, Mrs. Betty Jones, Mrs. Charlene Warren, and Mrs. Max Workman.

Refreshments of cake and punch were served by the hostesses to the twenty-eight persons present.

Spring Flower Show Planned In April

The Madisonville Garden Club Council will have its eighth annual spring flower show, "Moods of Spring," April 27 and 28, at the Ritzball Temple on U.S. Highway 41 north of Madisonville.

The hours are 2:00 p. m. to 8:00 p. m. on Saturday, and 1:00 p. m. to 6:00 p. m. on Sunday.

Garden Club members, their guests, and the interested public are invited to attend.

Childish Bride Get With It!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My son, who is 22, married a 19-year-old girl he met while he was stationed out west in the army. We asked him to wait until he had a steady job but he didn't listen to us. So now he's discharged and they are living with us.

We don't mind helping them out, Abby, but she is a lazy good-for-nothing dolt. They've been living with us going on three months, and she has never once offered to do a dish or even make up their bed. The laundry piles up and she doesn't even lift a finger to help. I do everything.

I have hinted until I can't stand the sight of her. If she were a DAUGHTER, I would give her a good, swift kick in the pants.

She gets up every morning to watch Captain Kangaroo, then she goes back to bed again. She acts like a guest, and my son refuses to say anything to her. I could write a book but I can't find an ending.

NEEDS HELP
DEAR NEEDS: Perhaps she is acting like a "guest" because you've been treating her like one. So treat her like a DAUGHTER! And tell your son and his childish bride that if she doesn't pitch in and help with the household chores, they can find other quarters.

DEAR ABBY: I'm dating a young woman. I could be serious about her, but here's the problem: She has a beautiful face, but she's a little on the heavy side. She's very much aware of it and is always on some kind of diet. Can "overweight" run in the family?

The reason I ask is because her mother is so enormous she can't get thru a door unless she goes sideways. And her grandmother is worse yet. She has to be helped up out of chairs.

Believe me, Abby, this scares me and the thought of having this girl for my wife and having her turn out like her mother and grandmother really turns me off.

Please advise me. I have been married for five years and we both love to dance, so we work up fancy dance steps at home and try them out when we go dancing. Every one says we dance beautifully together.

Neither one of us likes to dance with anyone else, because they don't know our steps and we don't know theirs. Yet there is always someone who can't take no for an answer.

Last evening a man I'll call Jack asked me to dance three times and I said no. Well, he came back again and just stood by my chair, then he took my arm and led me out to the dance floor. I didn't want to create a scene so I danced with him.

My husband didn't say anything at the time, but I could tell he was angry. When we got home he let me know just how angry he was.

Abby, I really didn't want to dance with Jack, but my husband insists that I did, or I wouldn't have danced with him. How can I handle people like Jack in the future?

LOVES TO DANCE
DEAR LOVES: If the "Jack" you meet won't take your "no" for an answer, tell them to ask your husband. That should settle it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LAURIE:
Yes, there is hope. A problem honestly stated is half solved. I would like to hear from you again.

IN MEMORY

In memory of our loving mother and grandmother, Mrs. Lovie O. Smith Travis whom God called home March 30, 1967, and our dear father and grandfather, Mr. Ira L. Travis who joined her in heaven Aug. 31, 1961.

Often our lonely hearts ache Many a silent tear. All in a beautiful memory Of the ones we loved so dear.

If we could send a message Mom and Dad, We would put it on the wings of a dove And send it through the clouds of blue To your home in the heavens above.

To tell you how much we miss you today And all the years that have passed— And for the memories you left us In our hearts they will forever last.

Always remembered and sadly missed. Children and Grandchildren. ITP

CHAPTER 18
KATHLEEN ROYAL, mounted on her horse, had built up a considerable lead. Dan Bruce decided against attempting to shorten the gap for the time being. He was hoping she might relent and turn back.

She continued to push her horse. After half a mile, she left the road and took to the flats along the river. At first, Dan believed she was heading for the Shaktown the homesteaders had created. However, her horse forded the stream at a shallow stretch half a mile from the settlement, and passed through a break in a two-wire fence that skirted the south fringe of the river—the same break, no doubt, that had brought on Baldy's encounter with Sheep-Band and Gid Marko.

Kathleen veered west, paralleling the river. This carried them abreast of Shaktown, and Dan could see two or three women and several children staring at them from among the "baldies."

Even though he had not seen her look back, Dan was certain Kathleen knew he was following her. She was making a point of ignoring his pursuit in an attempt to prevail on him to abandon the attempt. Whatever purpose she had in mind, she evidently was determined to go through with it.

Dan continued to stay within reasonable distance. There was no rifle on the saddle, and no pistol in sight, but that did not mean she could not have a short gun concealed.

She passed an opening in a barbed wire fence by way of a wooden cattle guard, which her horse picked its way carefully across. Dan's mount also negotiated the guard.

Not far beyond the fence, they skirted the river again. Flat Butte rose massively to the right. They soon began mounting a steady ascent toward a rounded hogback which connected the big butte with a second, table-topped eminence that had been previously hidden from view by its larger neighbor.

Springwater River had cut its way through this ridge. Their route led them at times along the rim of the gorge. Dan glimpsed white water now and then and heard the roar of rapids that must have been two hundred feet below.

Dan knew now that they had left Spanish Bell range when they had crossed the line fence. This was sheep country, Shannon country.

The elevation—they reached continued to rise. The basin eastward. Looking back, he could see Royal House and its web of corrals and meadows, tiny at that distance, but sharply defined. "We followed the way across the rounded summit. An easy slope descended to a plateau, broken by draws and small gorges. Two miles or more ahead, on a wide flat, stood the buildings of a sheep ranch, shaded by cedar, with a windbreak of poplar along the channel of a ditch that brought water to a stable pond.

Sheep pens, and long shearing and lambing sheds, all unused at this season, flanked the pond. Wool wagons stood with tongues elevated beneath shed roofs, along with three unused herder wagons with their typical round, sheet-iron tops from which stovepipes jutted.

The main house, like the home of Kathleen Royal, was built of stone and apparently in the same pattern, by the same artisans. And dating back as many years.

Kathleen was riding directly toward the sheep ranch. Dan spurred his tiring horse and began closing the gap between them. There was activity at the ranch ahead. Men were saddling horses. Harness teams were being brought out and hooked to two of the wool wagons.

All this halted. Faces turned to stare as Kathleen Royal came riding in. There were six men, and all were Basques by their garb, except one. The exception was the tall, sneaky man who had met Lavina Shannon at the stage station.

Lavina Shannon appeared from the main house. She looked old and gray and tired, and also unyielding.

Kathleen Royal did not slow the pace of her horse as she rode past the men. The tall one took a stride to intercept her, but she lifted the coiled quiet from the saddle horn and raised the loaded handle menacingly, driving him back.

She reined her horse toward Lavina Shannon. The older woman, instead of retreating, moved on foot to meet the threat of the oncoming animal. She stood straight and challenging in the face of this danger.

Kathleen Royal dragged her mount to a halt only a few yards short of riding down the other woman. "Lavina," she said between lips that were still ashen and taut, "if another of your hired ruffians ever again injures any of my crew, I'll hold you for it, personally."

The tall man came running to intervene. Dan arrived and yanked his horse into the man's path. "Stay out of this," he said.

Lavina Shannon spoke. She had never taken her eyes off Kathleen Royal. The next time any of your people cross that line fence, they'll be shot. That applies to you, Katy. We've buried enough dead. We've endured our bad pile-up."

"I've also reached a limit, Lavina," Kathleen said. "Baldy Strapp was beaten within an inch of his life today by those gunmen who pose as homesteaders. Baldy is up in years. I had pensioned him to an abey, just for the rest of his life, but because riders are afraid to ride out to Spanish Bell these days, Baldy went back to working cattle but of loyalty to me. After this turn your wolves loose on someone who has a chance of defending himself."

"Speaking of wolves, there'll be plenty to fatten them for, next few days," Lavina Shannon said. Her voice had the same metallic quality Dan had heard in Kathleen's. "We were just starting out with the wagon to salvage what little we can. If the river smells of tallow and roasting mutton to the north few days as it flows past Spanish Bell, you'll know your night riders did their job well."

"What are you talking about, Lavina?"

"As if you didn't know! Ride over to The Narrows. It's only a couple of miles. You might enjoy the sight of two hundred head of our lambs, mangled on the rocks, or floating down the river. They were driven over the edge of the bluff at daybreak by masked men. Two of our best dogs were killed. The herder escaped with his life only because he managed to get away into the brush. They were shooting at him."

"I know nothing about this," Kathleen said.

"Perhaps. Perhaps not. At least your father does. When you ride to The Narrows take a look at the brand on a dead horse that's lying near where the sheep were driven over the bluff. I believe you'll recognize your own Spanish Bell brand. It's one of your quarterhorses that your father bred. We found it with a broken leg at daylight. My son shot it to end its misery. It had been ridden on the night of the massacre and pinched the flock."

"That can't be true! Kathleen exclaimed. She who had no horse and headed in the direction Lavina Shannon had pointed out. Dan joined her. They rode in silence. The distance was less than two miles. Reaching the gorge where the river baled more than a hundred feet below, they followed the rim for a distance. They pulled up and stared in silence.

Bruce could do nothing about the hatred between the two women in which he is a factor.

(To Be Continued Monday)

THIS IS LEAF YEAR...

SO?

I GUESS MAYBE YOU'RE RIGHT

HELLO, MRS. ZILCH

HELLO

YOU DIDN'T TIP YOUR HAT TO MRS. ZILCH

BUT THIS ISN'T MY HAT—I BORROWED IT FROM JERRY

WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES THAT MAKE?

DON'T BE SO DUMB---

JERRY DOESN'T KNOW MRS. ZILCH

SHE... SHE ASKED ME TO COME TO HER HOUSE... AND WHEN I GOT THERE, SHE THREATENED ME... GOT A GUN... PULLED A GUN... SHOT ME!

THIS IS PRETTY SERIOUS. MRS. SCRAPPLE. THAT GIRL CLAIMS YOU SHOT HER!

THAT'S JUST NOT SO!

GOT ANY WITNESSES?

NO... NO WITNESSES...

FIN'S 'N FEATHERS FRIENDS

What party was "makin' noises" about promises broken? The shoe is on the other foot now and it's pinching, ole friend. As you can see, the planned work and changes for the "Feathers" didn't materialize. If the road to hell is indeed paved with "good intentions" then yours truly must surely have "dibbs" on the best paved highway in the universe.

Nevill and Verda McCoy: You are very kind and generous. We appreciate the kind words, we didn't deserve, after the butchering we did with the story on "Little Sheba" and the American Eskimo dogs. Thank you sincerely for bothering to telephone us. We don't get calls any more, regarding the "Feathers". Every other subject we hear from. Seems to be open season on everything else!

Mr. Gordon Crouch, Lynn Grove Milling Company, sent us a brief note giving the winners in a field trial. Thank you sir! First letter we've received in weeks. Once upon a time we could depend on an occasional note from Mr. Crouch, a few service men and our "cooling buddy" Mr. C. A. Kell, of Hickman, Mrs. Maude Swindle, Purver, an anonymous one. If you think we're crying in our beer, you're absolutely right. Morale is at rock bottom. Oh well, there is our stack of old letters which we haul out and read ever-so-often.

Got a brief glimpse of Marilyn Mason Forrest and son Ted yesterday. A quick wave, a "hi" and another promise to send the picture of Ted, Bob, and the Golden Retriever "The General's Brat".

Called Mrs. Patricia Miller for information and picture of Dan and the bird dogs. Even the unholy hour of our call didn't dampen the gracious warmth which this lady always responds.

Hollered at Bob Miller, thanking him for the comment we never received on his picture. He just hurries along, grumbling something about "we wouldn't understand the pressures of meeting a 1:00 deadline. Son, "you've got to be puttin' us on!"

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Murphy, of Murray Home and Auto Store, caught 27 croppie last Monday, March 25th. They were fishing at Lynhurst Resort. Mrs. Murphy (Nelda) was reasonably pleased with her catch, which was seven. We seldom get that many, of any size.

Opening and closing dates for the principal game species of Kentucky were approved at a meeting of the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission on March 25 in the offices of the Department.

Dr. James Salato, chairman of the commission, explained that the early date for setting the seasons was dictated by a desire of sportsmen in Kentucky and surrounding states to make plans for their vacations to coincide with the particular seasons for game they wish to hunt.

The Squirrel Season will open on August 12, continue through October 31; reopen on November 21 and continue through December 31. The bag and possession limit will be unchanged at six and 12.

The Quail and Rabbit Season will open on the third Thursday in November, the 21st, and continue through January 31. The limits for rabbits will again be six and 12 and for quail 10 and 20. The Grouse Season will open earlier this year, on November 21, and continue through February 28 with a bag limit of four and possession of eight.

The Season for Taking Furbearers opens on November 21 and continues through January 31. There is a training season for raccoon hunters opening on February 1 and continuing through October 21 in which dogs may be trained but where raccoons may not be harvested. A shakeout season, where the raccoons may be shaken from trees but not taken by gun, opens on October 22 and continues through November 20.

Ninety-one counties will be open for an All-Bucks Gun Deer Season this year. The opening date is November 13 and the closing date is November 17, during which only deer with one-pronged forked antlers or larger may be taken. No does may be harvested this year.

Either sex deer may be taken by the archery hunters during a split season which is statewide. The entire months of October and December will be open for the bow and arrow devotees. Only one deer, either by gun or bow and arrow, may be taken during the year.

The Dove, Waterfowl and Turkey Seasons will be set at the next meeting of the commission.

Ronnie Grant and 30 Croppie.

Ronnie and bride, Zane, are teachers at Ohio County High School. Both are MSU graduates. They were fishing in Cypress Creek, Morgan's Boat Dock area. The date was Saturday, March 23rd, not Sunday as we said earlier.

Jack and Venita Jones, and children, have been remodeling cabins, moving their boatdock equipment from Pisgah Bay and generally getting Cypress Resort in readiness for the approaching on-slaught of sportsmen. New boats, motors, safety devices... the works... will be available to suit every taste. Junior did quite a bit of day dreaming over a new large houseboat, which is fully equipped with sleeping facilities to accommodate 7-8 people. This jewel is a 40-foot Stardust, and is for rent or sale.

At the end of the fishing season the management of Cypress Resort will give a trophy for the largest fish of each species, taken from the waters surrounding Cypress Resort. There will be pictures and stories, as well. These trophies will be inscribed with all pertinent info, such as date, name, species of fish and weight. This is a prize worth considering. Partners in the resort are Shelly, a student at MSU, Rodney, a student at Northwood Institute, both boys are majoring in business administration.

J. L. Janet, and their 3-year-old son, little Ricky, are also partners. They formerly operated the Pisgah Bay Resort, before being driven out when the Land Between the Lakes region was purchased by the government. The afore mentioned youngsters are children of Jack and Venita Jones.

While conversing with Jack we casually inquired about fishing over the past week. A few out-of-town fishermen are recalled. Three men from Chicago, Ill., did very well. Joseph Wittenkeller, Wayne Moore and Dennis (Denny) Malenawski filled their stringer. It was their first time to fish this area.

Dr. Doss (not Ross) from Springville, Tenn., always makes a good showing, according to Jack. Sgt. Dave Bruzeki, from Ft. Campbell, Ky., landed a 2½ pound croppie and a goodly number of smaller ones. At this (early) stage of the game it would appear that Dave has his eye on the croppie trophy! At least he is leading in the race at the moment.

The Hardin Conservation Club held a Field Trial at Paduch recently. First place went to "Pat", a pointer, owned and handled by Fleetwood Crouch, of Lynn Grove. Second place to "Jake", a pointer owned and handled by Gordon Crouch, of Lynn Grove. We know and remember "Jake" and Mr. Crouch well. Third place went to Charles McReynolds of Murray. Congratulations fellows on some fine bird dogs and hunters!

Doyce Morris

Mr. Morris is standing in front of a rack of guns on display at Ward & Elkins. The gun department is being enlarged, with special emphasis on new shipments of pistols arriving now.
